LANGUAGE CENTRE

The Language Centre was established in 1968. Its initial function was to centralize and develop facilities for language teaching in the University. Over the years to follow, the Language Centre built up programmes in European and Asian languages, including Japanese, Chinese for foreign speakers and English enhancement. These latter three programmes are now handled by the Department of Japanese Studies, and the Department of Chinese and the English Centre, respectively. The Language Centre today is based in the Faculty of Arts and is responsible for the teaching of degree and non-degree (including certificate level) courses in French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Swedish and Thai throughout the University.

Hong Kong stands at the cross-roads between East and West and a knowledge of the various European and Asian languages fosters understanding and enhances Hong Kong's position as an international centre. The Language Centre will continue its current offerings and hopes to introduce new language programmes, especially in Asian languages, in the coming years.

Modern Teaching Methods

The Language Centre is one of the best equipped Centres for the teaching of languages in Asia. In addition to specially equipped special purpose teaching rooms for scheduled classes, the centre also runs self access facilities for self-instructional learning, equipped with audio-visual and computer facilities. There is also a video workshop for the production of teaching materials and for taping student activities for language performance reviews. Language Centre staff have carried out extensive work in the production of teaching materials.

The teaching process in the Language Centre is founded on two distinct but essential strands, one human, the other electronic. The first of these is teacher contact: all languages are taught in small group settings which allow maximum individual attention in virtually all learning situations. The second is the investment in modern audio-visual and computerized equipment which include:

- audio-visual equipment with a range of practice materials in various languages
- self-access facilities including a Practice Laboratory and a Language Resource Centre having a total of 57 A-V booths and 22 booths equipped with computer workstations, all facilitating oral practice and revision, and for other self-learning activities on individual, pair or group basis
- three classroom (audio-active comparative) language laboratories for scheduled classes
- two multi-media learning centres (MMLC's) each with 30 student workstations for scheduled classes. These centres are capable of functioning as computer laboratories, language laboratories or as multi-media centres for the distribution of A/V and video materials as well as accessing outside networks
- the latest PC computer hardware and a comprehensive range of CALL (Computer Assisted Language Learning) software in various languages, including French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Swedish and Thai. Other software includes courses for students of English, Chinese and Japanese
- equipment for receiving and distributing foreign language broadcasts from satellites for student viewing.

In addition, visits to European countries are arranged so as to enable students to attend summer courses and use European languages in their natural environment. These visits usually take place after the second year of study.

French Section

The French section of the Language Centre offers four different language programmes to undergraduates in the University:

1. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts (pp. 15-19)
2. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Social Sciences, which can lead to minor in French (pp. 32-33), and the Faculty of Business and Economics (pp. 43-44)
3. Degree courses offered as inter-faculty electives (pp. 51-53)

4. Courses leading to the award of the Certificate in French. This programme is open to undergraduates from all faculties, but places are limited. Priority will be given to applicants from faculties other than Arts, Social Sciences and Business and Economics as these students have the opportunity to take French, at degree level, as part of their normal degree programme (pp. 69-71).

These programmes stretch over a period of three years and it is recommended that students enrol in a programme as early as their first year in the University. The objective of these programmes is to give students a good command of the language in four different respects: speaking, listening, reading and writing. The courses also aim at providing students with a better knowledge of contemporary French society and culture through the use and discussion of selected materials drawn from updated sources.

Students taking French are strongly encouraged to travel to France during the course of their studies. The most appropriate period is the summer vacation at the end of the second year. In order to facilitate these trips, the French section has built up, over the years, a number of links with French universities and language institutes: University La Sorbonne in Paris, University of Dijon, Brest Language Institute, University of Grenoble, University of Perpignan, Centre de Linguistique Appliquée in Besançon, and others. The French section has also developed links with the College Bois de Boulogne, a French-speaking academic institution in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. First year students will also be offered the opportunity to travel to Beijing (Capital Normal University) to attend a 3-week summer course in French while also brushing up their Putonghua skills.

Locally, the French section cooperates closely with the Cultural Service of the French Consulate General, which offers, in addition to regular cultural events, counselling and guidance to individuals intending to continue their studies in France. Several scholarships are also put on offer by the French Education Ministry through the Consulate's services every year, to which students of French at the University of Hong Kong may apply. Over the past few years, several students in French at the University of Hong Kong have benefited from a one-month study grant, allowing them to attend an intensive language course in France during the summer. Finally, a "Prize of the Consulate General of France" is awarded every year to a meriting third year student in French.

German Section

The German Section of the Language Centre offers four different language programmes to undergraduates in the University:

1. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts (pp. 19-23)
2. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Social Sciences, which can lead to a minor in German (pp. 34-35), and the Faculty of Business and Economics (pp. 44-45)
3. Degree courses offered as inter-faculty electives (pp. 53-56)
4. Courses leading to the award of the Certificate in German, open to undergraduates of all faculties (pp. 72-74)

These programmes are validated by external examiners and aim to provide students with oral as well as written language skills. The different programmes allow students to gain a deeper insight into contemporary life and culture in Germany through the study of a broad range of authentic materials. Students will be able to experience life in Germany first-hand by participating in one of the summer language courses offered by German universities or by enrolling in courses of one or two semesters' duration at selected universities in Germany and Austria e.g. the Junior Year Programme or European Semester offered by the University of Bonn. An increasing number of German universities are now offering study programmes at postgraduate level taught in English. Our language programmes will provide students, who are interested in furthering their studies in Germany, with the necessary language skills and cultural knowledge to adapt to the German speaking environment outside the classroom.

The German Section has well established links with tertiary institutions in Germany including the universities of Stuttgart, Heidelberg, Bonn, Leipzig, Bayreuth, Tübingen, Saarbrücken and Freiburg, which allow students to attend summer language courses in different parts of Germany after their second year of language studies. Official exchanges exist between The University of Hong Kong and the University of Bremen and Bremen Hochschule. More recently, the University has also established an exchange programme with the University of Salzburg in Austria. All in all, the Section has contacts with about 30 universities in Germany.

The German Section also maintains close relationships with the German Consulate General in Hong Kong, the German Goethe-Institute Hong Kong (German Cultural Centre) and the DAAD (German Academic Exchange Service).

In order to support students from The University of Hong Kong who have obtained excellent results in studying German and to encourage cultural exchanges between Hong Kong and Germany, Lufthansa German Airlines, in co-operation with the University of Hong Kong, established the "Lufthansa Scholarship" in 1997. The scholarship consists of free round trip air tickets to Germany and is open to BA Year II students who are studying German degree courses in the Language Centre and who wish to enrol in summer language courses offered by universities in Germany after their second year of studies.

Italian Section

The Language Centre's Italian Section offers degree and Certificate level language courses from beginners to advanced levels to all faculties. Links have been established with the Italian Consulate through visiting staff and scholarships are offered by the Italian Chamber of Commerce to the students who want to work with Italian companies. The courses offered by the Italian Section are::

1. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts (pp. 23-25)
2. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Social Sciences, which can lead to a minor in Italian (pp. 35-37), and the Faculty of Business and Economics (pp. 45-46)
3. Degree courses offered as inter-faculty electives (pp. 56-58)
4. Courses leading to the award of the Certificate in Italian. This programme is open to undergraduates from all faculties, but places are limited. Priority will be given to applicants from faculties other than Arts, Social Sciences and Business and Economics as these students have the opportunity to take Italian, at degree level, as part of their normal degree programme (pp. 75-77)

These programmes stretch over a period of three years. Therefore, it is recommended that students enrol as early as possible upon starting their studies at the University. The objective of these programmes is to give students a good command of the language in its four different aspects: speaking, listening reading and writing. The courses also aim at giving an insight into the contemporary Italian culture and society.

Students taking Italian are encouraged to travel to Italy during the course of their studies, preferably in the summer period after completing their second year. In order to facilitate these trips, the Italian section has built up links with the Italian Universities of Perugia and Siena who have put on offer several scholarships since the year 2000.

The Italian government has also contributed to the development of Italian studies at The University of Hong Kong by providing a full-time teacher since 1998. Locally, the Italian section cooperates closely with the cultural service of the Italian Consulate General jointly organizing cultural and social events.

The Italian section is also liaising with the University of Venice “Ca Foscari” to start a programme of students and teachers exchange between the two universities. That will be effective next year or in 2002.

An agreement was signed in 2000 between the Italian Business Association of Hong Kong, the Italian Chamber of Commerce in the Hong Kong and the Language Centre of the University of Hong Kong to provide the students of Italian at The University of Hong Kong with an opportunity of working in Italian companies which are members of the Chamber of Commerce. To improve their knowledge and use of spoken and written Italian, this internship programme is offered only during the summer.

Portuguese Section

Portuguese language courses, organized by the Language Centre with support from the Consulate General of Portugal and the Camoes Institute are available to all students in the University. The Portuguese section of the Language Centre offers four different language programmes to students of the University:

1. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts (pp. 25-26)
2. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Social Sciences (pp. 37-38) and the Faculty of Business and Economics (pp. 46-47)
3. Degree courses offered as inter-faculty electives (pp. 58-60)
4. Courses leading to the award of the Certificate in Portuguese, open to undergraduates of all faculties (pp. 78-80)

Spanish Section

The Spanish section of the Language Centre offers four different language programmes to students in the University:

1. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts (pp. 27-29)
2. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Social Sciences, which can lead to a minor in Spanish (pp. 38-40), and the Faculty of Business and Economics (pp. 47-48)
3. Degree courses offered as inter-faculty electives (pp. 61-63)
4. Courses leading to the award of the Certificate in Spanish, open to all undergraduates of all faculties (pp. 81-83)

These programmes stretch over a period of three years. Therefore, it is recommended that students enrol as early as possible upon starting their studies at the University. The objective of these programmes is to give students a good command of the language in its four different aspects: speaking, listening, reading and writing. The courses also aim at giving an insight into the culture and society of Spanish speaking countries.

Students taking Spanish are encouraged to travel to Spain during the course of their studies, preferably in the summer period after completing their second year. In order to facilitate these trips, the Spanish section has recently built links with various Spanish universities which offer summer courses for overseas students. For more information visit the Spanish section website (www.hku.hk/spanish). There might be a possibility of obtaining scholarships in the near future for outstanding students to and study in Spain.

The Spanish government has also contributed to the development of Spanish studies at The University of Hong Kong by providing a full-time visiting teacher since 1993.

Swedish Section

The Swedish section of the Language Centre offers four different language programmes to students at the University:

1. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts (pp. 29-31)
2. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Social Sciences (pp. 40-41) and the Faculty of Business and Economics (p. 49)
3. Degree courses offered as inter-faculty electives (pp. 64-66)
4. Non-degree and non-certificate Swedish courses are open to students from all faculties (p. 84)

The programme has been receiving continuous support from Swedish organizations in Hong Kong.

Thai Section

The Thai section of the Language Centre offers four different language programmes to students of the University:

1. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts (pp. 31-32)
2. Degree courses open to undergraduates in the Faculty of Social Sciences (pp. 41-42) and the Faculty of Business and Economics (p. 50)
3. Degree courses offered as inter-faculty electives (pp. 66-68)
4. Non-degree and non-certificate Thai courses are open to students from all faculties (p. 85)

There is also a Basic Thai course offered to the University staff and the general public. (p. 85)

DEGREE COURSES

Faculty of Arts

The Language Centre offers courses to students in the Faculty of Arts in the following streams:

1. Core or optional courses in the European Studies programme

The programme in European Studies provides an interdisciplinary approach to the study of European civilization with a solid foundation in at least one European language. Students who have successfully completed French I.1 and I.2 OR German I.1 and I.2 OR Italian I.1 and I.2 OR Spanish I.1 and I.2 and who fulfill the remaining requirements as set out by the European Studies Programme will be eligible to major in European Studies in their second and third year.

Organization

The Programme is coordinated by the Board of Studies in European Studies and students fulfilling the requirements of the Programme will be deemed European Studies majors for the purpose of satisfying Regulation A11. Please refer to the European Studies handbook for more details (available from the Language Centre and from the Department of History).

Programme Requirements

Each student in the programme will be required to take (1) one of the language core courses and (2) the European Studies core courses in all three years of the programme. Students may select any one of the core languages (French, German, Italian or Spanish) in the first year, but having made an initial choice at the outset students will be required to take courses in the same language throughout all three years. In their second and third years students must take, in addition to these core courses, a selection of courses in a subject core area which is equivalent to a minimum of twenty-four credit units. The remaining courses may be selected from among (1) the optional language courses, (2) the optional European Studies courses, (3) the range of courses offered by the core Departments participating in the programme, or (4) any other courses which have been approved by the Board of Faculty of Arts. Departmental prerequisites for second and third-year courses must also be met, where applicable.

DEGREE COURSES

FACULTY OF ARTS

FRENCH

FIRST YEAR

LANG1001 : French I.1

6 credits

Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.

1st semester only

This course is intended for complete beginners in French and does not require any previous knowledge of the language. Participants will acquire a basic knowledge in the four areas of competence (listening, speaking, reading and writing) with a particular emphasis on communicative skills. Classes will be conducted in small groups in order to ensure a high degree of interactivity between participants and teachers. Conversation groups and laboratory groups will also be arranged separately on a regular basis.

Prerequisite: Nil

LANG1002 : French I.2

12 credits

Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 2-hour duration and a separate oral examination. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.

2nd semester only

This course is a continuation of French I.1. It will further develop the four areas of competence with the view of expanding students' linguistic, pronunciation and communicative skills. As in French I.1, separate conversation and laboratory groups will be arranged to complement classroom tuition. In addition, participants will be asked to make use of a range of materials available in the Centre's self-access facilities (which include audio, video, CD-Rom and computer programmes), as well as take advantage of resources accessible through various Internet sites. Students intending to proceed to the second year will be provided before the summer break with specifically designed self-learning packages in order to consolidate the first year's work.

Prerequisite: Students must have satisfactorily completed French I.1 or provide evidence that they have attained a comparable level elsewhere.

SECOND YEAR

LANG2001 : French Language - II.1
12 credits	Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 3-hour duration and a separate oral examination. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year and continues to build on the first-year work. It offers a balanced range of the various language skills through further syntax acquisition, reading and textual analysis, listening comprehension, composition, translation, oral expression and communicative skills. A wide variety of teaching techniques and materials is used. Small groups are arranged throughout the year to ensure maximum opportunities for interactive practice. All students intending to continue the study of French in their third year are strongly encouraged to attend a summer intensive immersion course in France.

Prerequisite: (i) French II.1 is open to students who have successfully completed French I.1 and I.2.
(ii) Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite courses.

LANG2002 : French Language and Culture - II.2
6 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year and will be based on the exploitation of authentic French material drawn from the media and other sources. The main emphasis will be on the development of reception skills, i.e. aural and reading skills. The objective of this course will be twofold: first, through an analytic approach, to make the students familiar with the actual use of French in conveying information, opinions, ideas and feelings. Second, to provide students with first-hand facts and details about French contemporary society and customs as well as issues which confront French people. This course is intended to serve as a solid preparation for the period of time students are advised to spend in the country during the summer at the end of their second year.

Prerequisite: (i) French II.2 is open to students who have successfully completed French I.1 and I.2. Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite courses.
(ii) Students may not enrol in French II.2 without enrolling in French II.1.

LANG2003 : French Speech and Sounds - II.3
6 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.
Whole year

This course has the following objectives : i. To step up participants' proficiency in French, with special reference to the spoken and aural dimensions and, ii. To address some issues of sound interferences and areas of comparison between spoken French, Chinese and English. Class activities and tuition in small groups will focus on both the production and reception of the spoken language, with particular respect to sound discrimination and articulation, prosody, intonation and control of meaning. Classroom material will be in French, and French will be used as the main medium of tuition. This course is taught throughout the two semesters.

- Prerequisite: (i) French II.3 is open to students who have successfully completed French I.1 and I.2. Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite courses
- (ii) Students may not enrol in French II.3 without enrolling in French II.1.

THIRD YEAR

LANG3001 : French Language - III.1
12 credits	Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 3-hour duration and a separate oral examination. Coursework includes (i) projects, (ii) periodic assignments and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year in lectures and tutorials and continues to build on the first- and second-year work. Lectures will make use of literary texts and authentic documents (press clippings, etc.) from France and other French-speaking countries, with the aim of stimulating critical reading. This study of authentic materials will also help students to investigate further French civilization and contemporary culture. In tutorials, emphasis will be put on the exploration of various techniques of writing as well as the development of oral skills in the context of argued discourses and presentations.

- Prerequisite: (i) French III.1 is open to students who have successfully completed French II.1.
- (ii) Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite course.

LANG3002 : French Language and Culture - III.2
6 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) oral presentation, (ii) periodic assignments and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year. It is intended for students reading French in their third year and wishing to increase their exposure to the language. The medium of tuition will be French. The objective is to enhance and extend the students' language skills and to offer, through a thematic approach, a broad view of major trends in art, literature, drama, music, etc. which have shaped the French cultural scene in the twentieth century. Materials will be selected from various periods but the emphasis will be on recent texts or other means of expression and communication such as cinema or advertising.

- Prerequisite: (i) French III.2 is open to students who have successfully completed French II.1. Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite course.
- (ii) Students may not enrol in French III.2 without enrolling in French III.1.

LANG3003 : French / English Translation - Practical Skills - III.3
3 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) oral presentation, (ii) periodic assignments and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
1st semester only

The objective of this course is to reinforce students' language skills in French while making them aware of problems arising from transferring meaning from French to English and conversely. Most of the work will focus on common translation difficulties between the two languages and will propose various ways of dealing with them. This course, very practical in nature, will make use of materials drawn from various sources, e.g., literature, press articles, movies, bilingual documents and business correspondence etc.

- Prerequisite: (i) French III.3 is open to students who have successfully completed French II.1. Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite course.
- (ii) Students may not enrol in French III.3 without enrolling in French III.1.

LANG3004 : French / Chinese Translation - Practical Skills - III.4
3 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) oral presentation, (ii) periodic assignments and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
2nd semester only

The objective of this course is to reinforce students' language skills in French while making them aware of problems arising from transferring meaning from French to Chinese, and conversely. Most of the work will focus on common translation difficulties between the two languages and will propose ways of dealing with them. This course, very practical in nature, will make use of materials drawn from various sources, e.g., literature, press articles, movies, bilingual documents and business correspondence, etc.

- Prerequisite: (i) French III.4 is open to students who have successfully completed French II.1. Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite course.
- (ii) Students may not enrol in French III.4 without enrolling in French III.1.

LANG3005 : French ad Business - III.5
3 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) oral presentation, (ii) periodic assignments and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
2nd semester only

This course is an introduction to the use of French in a business context. A variety of topics and situations will be studied, such as trade negotiations and deals, sale representation, commercial correspondence, contractual agreements or disputes, marketing strategies, advertising campaigns, job application, etc. The teaching materials used for this course will be drawn from actual sources and discussions will mainly focus on the local region, with the particular aim to provide the participants with first-hand facts and information on the economic relationship between France and Hong Kong.

- Prerequisite: (i) French III.5 is open to students who have successfully completed French II.1. Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least

- comparable to a pass in the prerequisite course.
- (ii) Students may not enrol in French III.5 without enrolling in French III.1.

LANG3022 : French Eastern Narratives - III.6
3 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) short essays, (ii) periodic assignments, (iii) presentations and (iv) other coursework as prescribed.
1st semester only

This course offers an overview of how French writers and travellers wrote about China, Indochina and Japan over the last three centuries, from the debut of French global travelling (early 18th century) to recent periods. Through the close study of depictions and narrations of encounters, the objective will be to recognize trends, contradictions and invariants in this process of channeling home the Far East, either as a romanticized cultural alternative or as a strong repellent. The extent to which these various accounts and representations have inspired the aesthetics and literary productions of contemporary France will also be examined in some instances. The medium of discussion will be mainly French, and the texts (novel excerpts, press, films, iconography) will be in French or, where appropriate, provided with translation.

- Prerequisite: (i) French III.6 is open to students who have successfully completed French II.1. Alternatively, students will be required to provide evidence that they have attained elsewhere a standard at least comparable to a pass in the prerequisite courses.
- (ii) Students may not enrol in French III.6 without enrolling in French III.1.

LANG3010 : Projektkurs - German Project
3 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework.
2nd semester only

In this course students will study in depth an approved topic of their choice in German. They will present their findings in class and submit a written project of around 2,000 words in German at the end of the course. Students wishing to enroll in this course are encouraged to make use of their stay in Germany to collect materials for their project.

Prerequisite: German II.1 or comparable level acquired elsewhere. Students wishing to be admitted to German Project without having enrolled in German II.1 previously will have to satisfy the Faculty Board through the Director of the Language Centre that they have attained elsewhere a standard adequate to enable them to complete the course satisfactorily. Students may not enrol in German Project without enrolling in German III.1 unless they have previously attained a standard adequate to enable them to complete the course satisfactorily.

LANG3023 : Übersetzungsübung II - Translation Exercise II
6 credits	Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 3-hour duration. Coursework includes (i) periodic translation assignments and (ii) progress tests.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year. Students will practise written translations from German to English and English to German using a variety of texts written in different styles. The main aim will be to make students aware of the major structural and lexical differences between German and English and to provide them with additional information on contemporary German topics.

Prerequisite: German II.1 or comparable level acquired elsewhere. Students wishing to be admitted to Translation Exercise II without having enrolled in German II.1 previously will have to satisfy the Faculty Board through the Director of the Language Centre that they have attained elsewhere a standard adequate to enable them to complete the course satisfactorily. Students may not enrol in Translation Exercise II without enrolling in German III.1 unless they have previously attained a standard adequate to enable them to complete the course satisfactorily.

ITALIAN

ALL YEARS

LANG0001 : Introduction to Italian Life and Culture
3 credits	Assessment: Continuous assessment and projects.
2nd semester only

This course will give an outline of Italian civilization and contemporary culture in its manifold aspects, ranging from arts, history, music, Italian customs and traditions in the different regions and cities, to cinema and tourism, food, fashion, environment, education, sport and politics with particular focus on the youth world. The teacher will present a variety of subjects making use of videos and authentic materials (music, magazines, advertising, etc.), from which the students will choose topics and discuss them in discussion groups. Each group will then present, at the end of the course, a project on a particular subject. In case the students should be interested, some basic knowledge of the Italian language will be offered.

Medium of instruction: English. Knowledge of Italian is not necessary.

Prerequisite: Nil.

FIRST YEAR

LANG1007 : Italian I.1
6 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.
1st semester only

This course is intended for complete beginners in Italian and does not require any previous knowledge of the language. Participants will acquire a basic knowledge in the four areas of competence (listening, speaking, reading and writing) with a particular emphasis on communicative skills.

6 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.
2nd semester only

This course is a continuation of Italian I.1. It will further develop the four areas of competence with the view of expanding students' linguistic, pronunciation and communicative skills. Participants will be asked to make use of a range of materials available in the Centre's self-access facilities (which include audio, video, CD Rom and computer programmes), as well as to take advantage of resources accessible through the internet.

Prerequisite: Students must have satisfactorily completed Italian I.1 or provide evidence that they have attained a comparable level elsewhere.

SECOND YEAR

LANG2010 : Italian II
12 credits	Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 2-hour duration and a separate oral examination. Coursework includes (i) periodic assignments, (ii) progress tests and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year and is a continuation of Italian I.2. The intention is to build further on the junior level work and widen the scope of exposure to more complex aspects of the language. The teaching will diversify .

through the use of more elaborate material and a variety of teaching techniques including work with video. Participants are expected to consolidate their understanding of Italian language and develop further their production and reception skills.

- Prerequisite:
- (i) Students wishing to be admitted to Italian II will be required to attend an intensive session (Transition 1) usually held in June.
 - (ii) Students wishing to be admitted to Italian II without having previously completed Italian I.2 and Transition 1 will be required to satisfy the Faculty Board through the Director of the Language Centre that they have attained elsewhere the required standard.

THIRD YEAR

LANG3012 : Italian III
12 credits	Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 3-hour duration and a separate oral examination. Coursework includes (i) periodic assignments, (ii) progress tests and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year and continues to build on the two previous years' work on a more advanced level. The intention is to lead participants towards a fairly comprehensive understanding of Italian language features through the study of a variety of documents (written, audio and video). The selection of documents will also serve as a basis for discussion on some social issues regarding contemporary Italy, as well as Italian history and cultural background.

- Prerequisite:
- (i) Students wishing to be admitted to Italian III will be required to attend an intensive session (Transition 2) usually held in June.
 - (ii) Students wishing to be admitted to Italian III without having previously completed Italian II and Transition 2 will be required to satisfy the Faculty Board through the Director of the Language Centre that they have attained elsewhere the required standard.

2nd semester only

Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.

This course is only taught in the second semester. Students will be made familiar with the sound system of German and they will acquire sentence structures that allow them to follow simple dialogues and to express themselves in simple statements. The course will provide students with a basic understanding of both spoken and written German.

Prerequisite: Students wishing to be admitted to German I will be required to attend a beginner's German course in the Language Centre in the first semester or satisfy the Faculty Board through the Director of the Language Centre that they have attained elsewhere the requisite standard.

SECOND YEAR

LANG2009 : German II

12 credits

Whole year

Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one 2-hour written paper and an oral examination.

This course is taught throughout the year and consists of two components: (a) Intermediate German and (b) Media Workshop.

(a) Intermediate German

In this component students will acquire skills that will allow them to understand more difficult texts and statements and to express themselves in more complex statements. They will participate in discussions on various issues relating to contemporary life in Germany.

(b) Media Workshop

The basic aim of this component is to provide an environment for the participants to communicate with each other in German and to make them aware of paralinguistic features which not only aid communication between native speakers, but very often form an essential part of communication. The participants will perform audio/video recordings of their own scripts. Topics may include interviews, domestic scenes, social scenes, commercials, etc.

- Prerequisite: (i) Students wishing to be admitted to German II will be required to attend a Transition Course which is normally taught by the Language Centre in June.

THAI

FIRST YEAR

LANG1022 : Thai for Beginners - Part II
6 credits	Assessment: 100% coursework. Coursework includes (i) progress tests, (ii) participation in class and (iii) various assignments.
2nd semester only

This course is only taught in the second semester. The beginner's course in the first semester is equivalent to the course Thai for Beginners - Part I. This course aims to teach the basics of Thai with respect to the four linguistic skills of listening, speaking, reading and writing. Students will also be introduced to Thai culture and society. Vocabulary and grammar will be presented in a communicative way for a variety of situations, e.g. making introductions, leave-taking, giving directions, buying things, making telephone calls and so on. The emphasis will be on the spoken language, as well as on providing a secure foundation for basic Thai.

Prerequisite: Students must have satisfactorily completed a beginner's Thai course in the Language Centre in the first semester or provide evidence that they have attained a comparable level elsewhere.

SECOND YEAR

LANG2022 : Thai II
12 credits	Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 2-hour duration and a separate oral examination. Coursework includes (i) periodic assignments, (ii) progress tests and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year and is a continuation of LANG1022 Thai for Beginners - Part II. The intention is to build further on the junior level work and widen the scope of exposure to more complex aspects of the language. The teaching will diversify through the use of more elaborate material and a variety of teaching techniques including work with video. Participants are expected to consolidate their understanding of Thai and develop further their production and reception skills.

Prerequisite:

- (i) Students wishing to be admitted to Thai II will be required to attend an intensive session (Transition 1) usually held in June.
- (ii) Students wishing to be admitted to Thai II without having previously completed Thai for Beginners - Part II and Transition 1 will be required to satisfy the Faculty Board through the Director of the Language Centre that they have attained the required standard.

THIRD YEAR

LANG3024 : Thai III
12 credits	Assessment: Final examination (60%) and Coursework (40%). The examination consists of one written paper of 3-hour duration and a separate oral examination. Coursework includes (i) periodic assignments, (ii) progress tests and (iii) other coursework as prescribed.
Whole year

This course is taught throughout the year and continues to build on the two previous years' work on a more advanced level. The intention is to lead participants towards a fairly comprehensive understanding of Thai language features through the study of variety of documents (written, audio and video). The selection of documents will also serve as a basis for discussion on some social issues regarding contemporary Thailand, as well as Thai history and culture.

Prerequisite:

- (i) Students wishing to be admitted to Thai III will be required to attend an intensive session (Transition 2) usually held in June.
- (ii) Students wishing to be admitted to Thai III without having previously completed Thai II and Transition 2 will be required to satisfy the Faculty Board through the Director of the Language Centre that they have attained the required standard.

CERTIFICATE COURSES

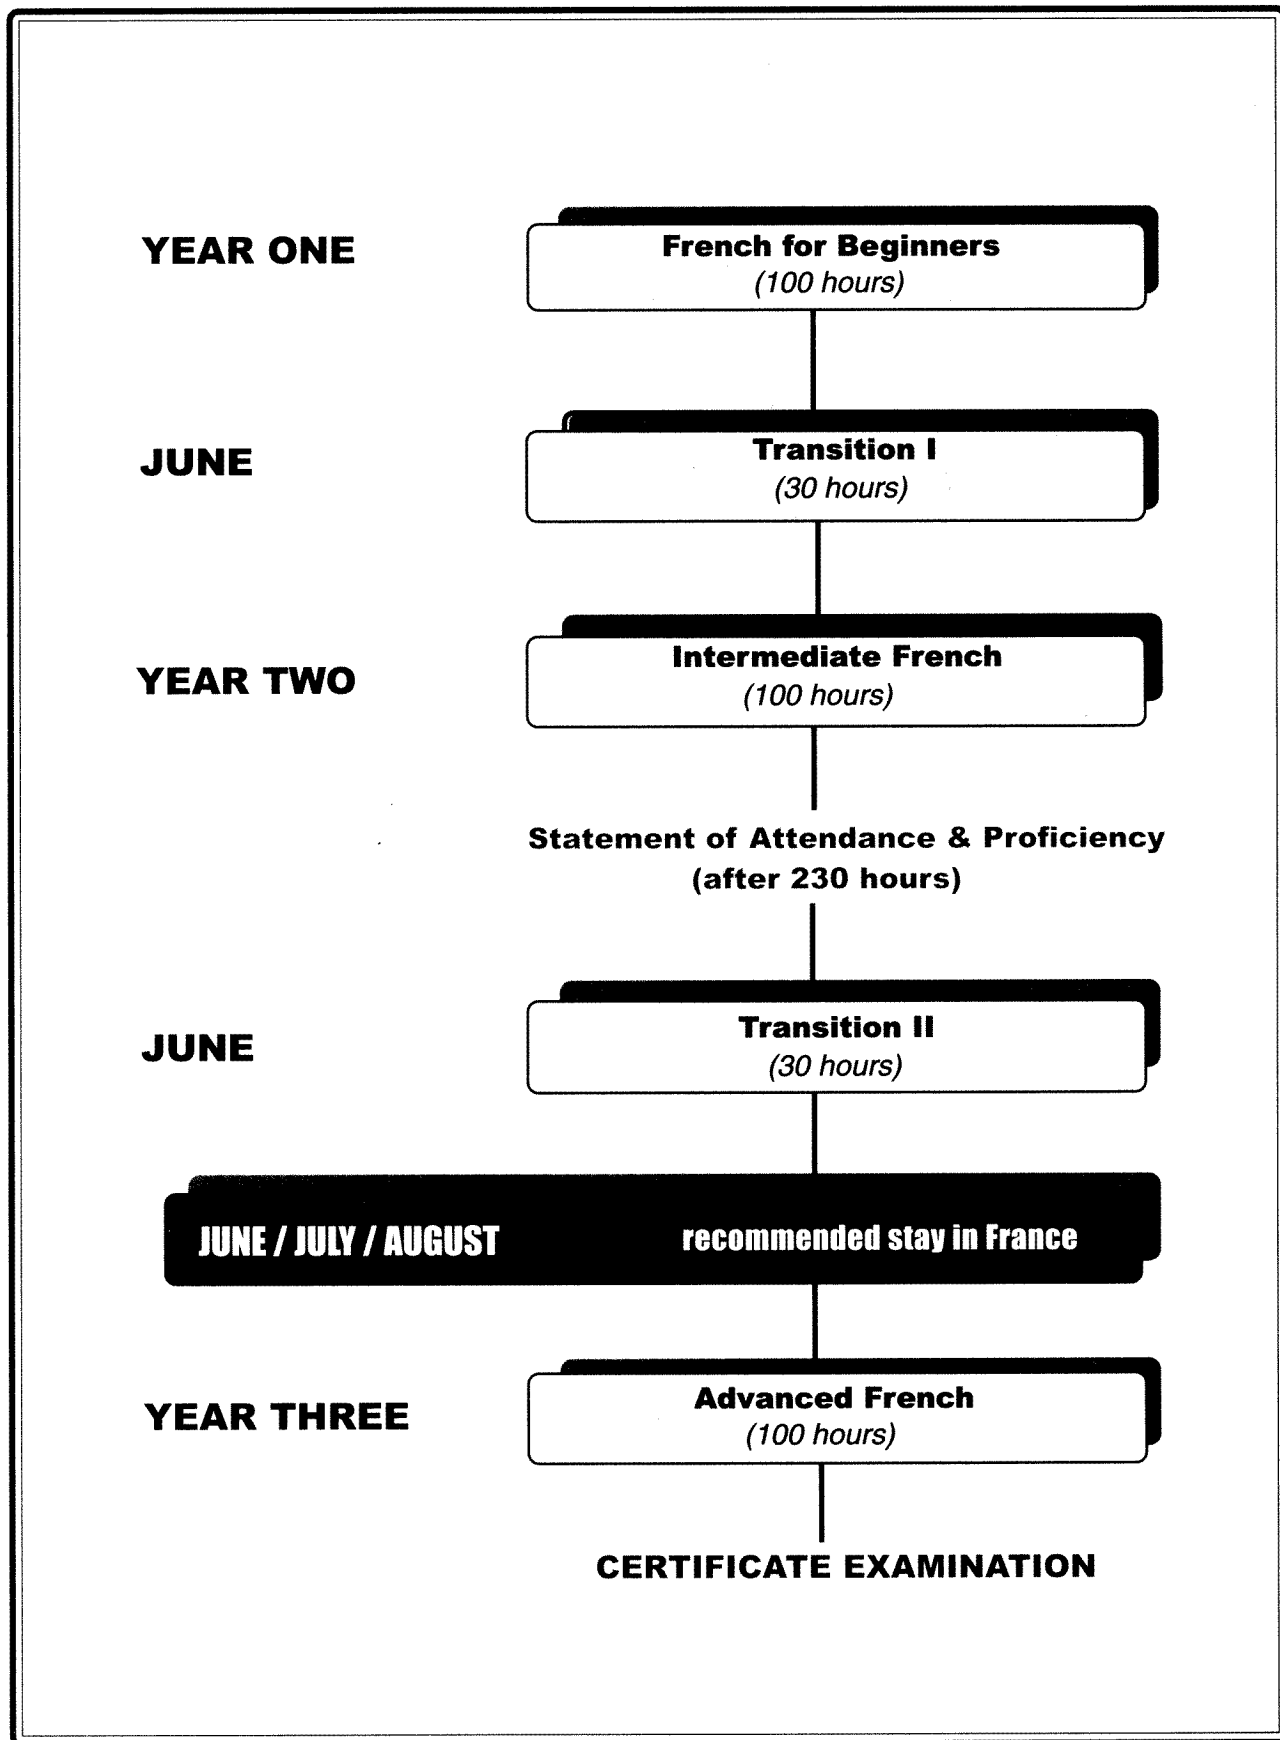

FRENCH

The Language Centre Certificate in French

The Language Centre offers a three-year programme leading to the award of the Certificate in French. This programme is open to students from all faculties.

By the end of the third year, students having completed this programme will have acquired a sound command of both spoken and written French that will allow them to deal successfully with a large variety of situations and materials. It is also hoped that the completion of this course will make them more familiar with contemporary France, as special attention will be given to the selection of authentic and updated materials for use in class.

The minimum number of hours required to be admitted to the Certificate Examination is about 350. Admission to Intermediate (Year 2) and Advanced (Year 3) levels will be subject to continuous assessment (3 tests a year, average of results). As it is expected that places at intermediate and advanced levels will be limited, the test results will be used as a criterion for the allocation of places. Furthermore, it must be noted that attendance at Transition Courses (I & II) held usually in June is compulsory. After the completion of 230 hours (intermediate level), successful students will be able to obtain a Statement of Attendance and Proficiency. Please refer to the chart on the following page for an outline of the certificate programme.

French for Beginners

This course is open to complete beginners interested in studying French language and culture. The aim is to provide students with a good foundation in both oral and written contemporary French and to allow them to go further in their understanding of the country.

Students willing to enrol are expected to show an earnest commitment to the course in terms of personal work, attendance and participation in class activities. Small-sized class groups are arranged in order to ensure effective interaction between the teacher and each of the students. A Transition Course of 30 hours will be offered in June for those intending to proceed onto the intermediate level.

Applicants are encouraged to arrange for a short interview prior to their enrolment. See appointment sheets posted on teachers' office doors.

Intermediate French

This course is open to students having completed the French for Beginners as well as the Transition Course (Level 1) held in June each year. Other applicants with comparable background (around 130 hours) may also be admitted upon interview.

The intention of this course is to build on the fundamentals already acquired and to widen the exposure to the formal aspects of the language through extensive use of written, audio and video materials. Students who have successfully completed this course and passed the Certificate Examination Part I will be awarded a Statement of Proficiency in French.

Another Transition Course (Level 2) will be held in June for students wishing to proceed to the advanced level. Furthermore, students enrolled at the intermediate level will be encouraged to travel to France at the end of the second year to attend an intensive language course in a French university.

Advanced French

This course is intended for students who have completed an Intermediate Course in French offered by the Language Centre or who are able to claim a comparable achievement from another institution (between 200 and 250 hours).

The objective is to lead participants towards a comprehensive understanding of the language through the study of a variety of selected materials (written, audio and video) with special emphasis given to social issues of contemporary France, as well as to French history and culture. The course will also concentrate on the enhancement of students' oral and written performances in small group sessions on a weekly basis.

At the end of the course, eligible students will be invited to apply for the Certificate Examination (Part II) leading to the award of the Language Centre Certificate in French.

GERMAN

The Language Centre Certificate in German

The Language Centre offers a Language Centre Certificate in German for its German language courses. These courses are open to students from all faculties, and the first Certificate Examination was held in 1992-93.

The aim of the certificate programme is to provide the students with a fairly comprehensive understanding of both spoken and written German. The students will be able to follow reports and engage in discussions about everyday topics. It is also intended to allow a certain degree of specialization in the third year through the study of materials from different spheres such as business, literature and so on.

In order to be admitted to the Certificate Examination, students will have to attend a minimum of 300-350 hours of tuition. At present, the following courses are available: German for Beginners, Transition Course, Intermediate German, Media Workshop, Advanced German, and Translation Course. Please refer to the chart on the following page for an outline of the certificate programme. Non-certificate students may also apply for admission to these courses; however, preference will usually be given to certificate students. Various types of assessment will be used throughout each course. As the number of places at the intermediate and advanced levels is limited, the test results will also be used as a criterion for the allocation of places in these courses.

Students who are unable to fulfill the requirements for admission to the Certificate Examination may be able to obtain a statement certifying attendance and proficiency which will be issued after the successful completion of 230 hours and a pass in the oral examination at the end of Year II (April).

German for Beginners

This course is designed for complete beginners, and the aim is to provide students with a basic understanding of both spoken and written German.

Students will be made familiar with the sound system of German and they will acquire structures that allow them to follow simple dialogues and to express themselves in simple statements. They will be able to talk about themselves, their families, their work, their studies, etc. In addition, they will learn to master situations like ordering food in a restaurant, making telephone calls, using different types of transport, asking information in shops, asking for directions, explaining the way, etc.

Transition Course (only offered during the summer break)

The aim of this course is to reinforce the skills acquired during the Beginner's Course and to expand them by introducing the past tense and structures that enable the students to enquire about others' health, to express their own health problems, etc.

Intermediate German

This course is open to students who have successfully attended a Beginner's Course in German and the Transition Course. Others may be admitted if they have sufficient knowledge of German.

Students taking this course will acquire skills that will allow them to understand more difficult texts and statements and to express themselves in more complex sentences. They will participate in discussions on various topics relating to contemporary Germany such as the educational system, unemployment among young people, children and TV, protection of the environment, news media, etc.

Media Workshop

This course is designed for students at an intermediate or advanced level and it will focus on working with video and audio equipment. Students will perform video/audio recordings of their own scripts. Topics may include interviews, domestic scenes, social scenes, commercials etc.

The basic aim of this course is to provide an environment for the participants to communicate with each other in German and become aware of paralinguistic features which not only aid communication between native speakers, but very often form an essential part of communication.

Advanced German

The intention of this course is to lead students to a more comprehensive understanding of both written and spoken German.

Through the study of selected texts and materials from different spheres the students will learn to summarize information and to express the content of a text in their own words in German.

Students will also be made familiar with the format of the examination for the ZDaF (Zertifikat Deutsch als Fremdsprache - Certificate of German as a Foreign Language).

Translation Course

This course is designed for students at the advanced level. German/English texts will be translated into English/German. The majority of the texts will be taken from the areas of business, literature, and contemporary life in Germany. This course aims mainly at further developing the students' written language skills.

ITALIAN

The Language Centre Certificate in Italian

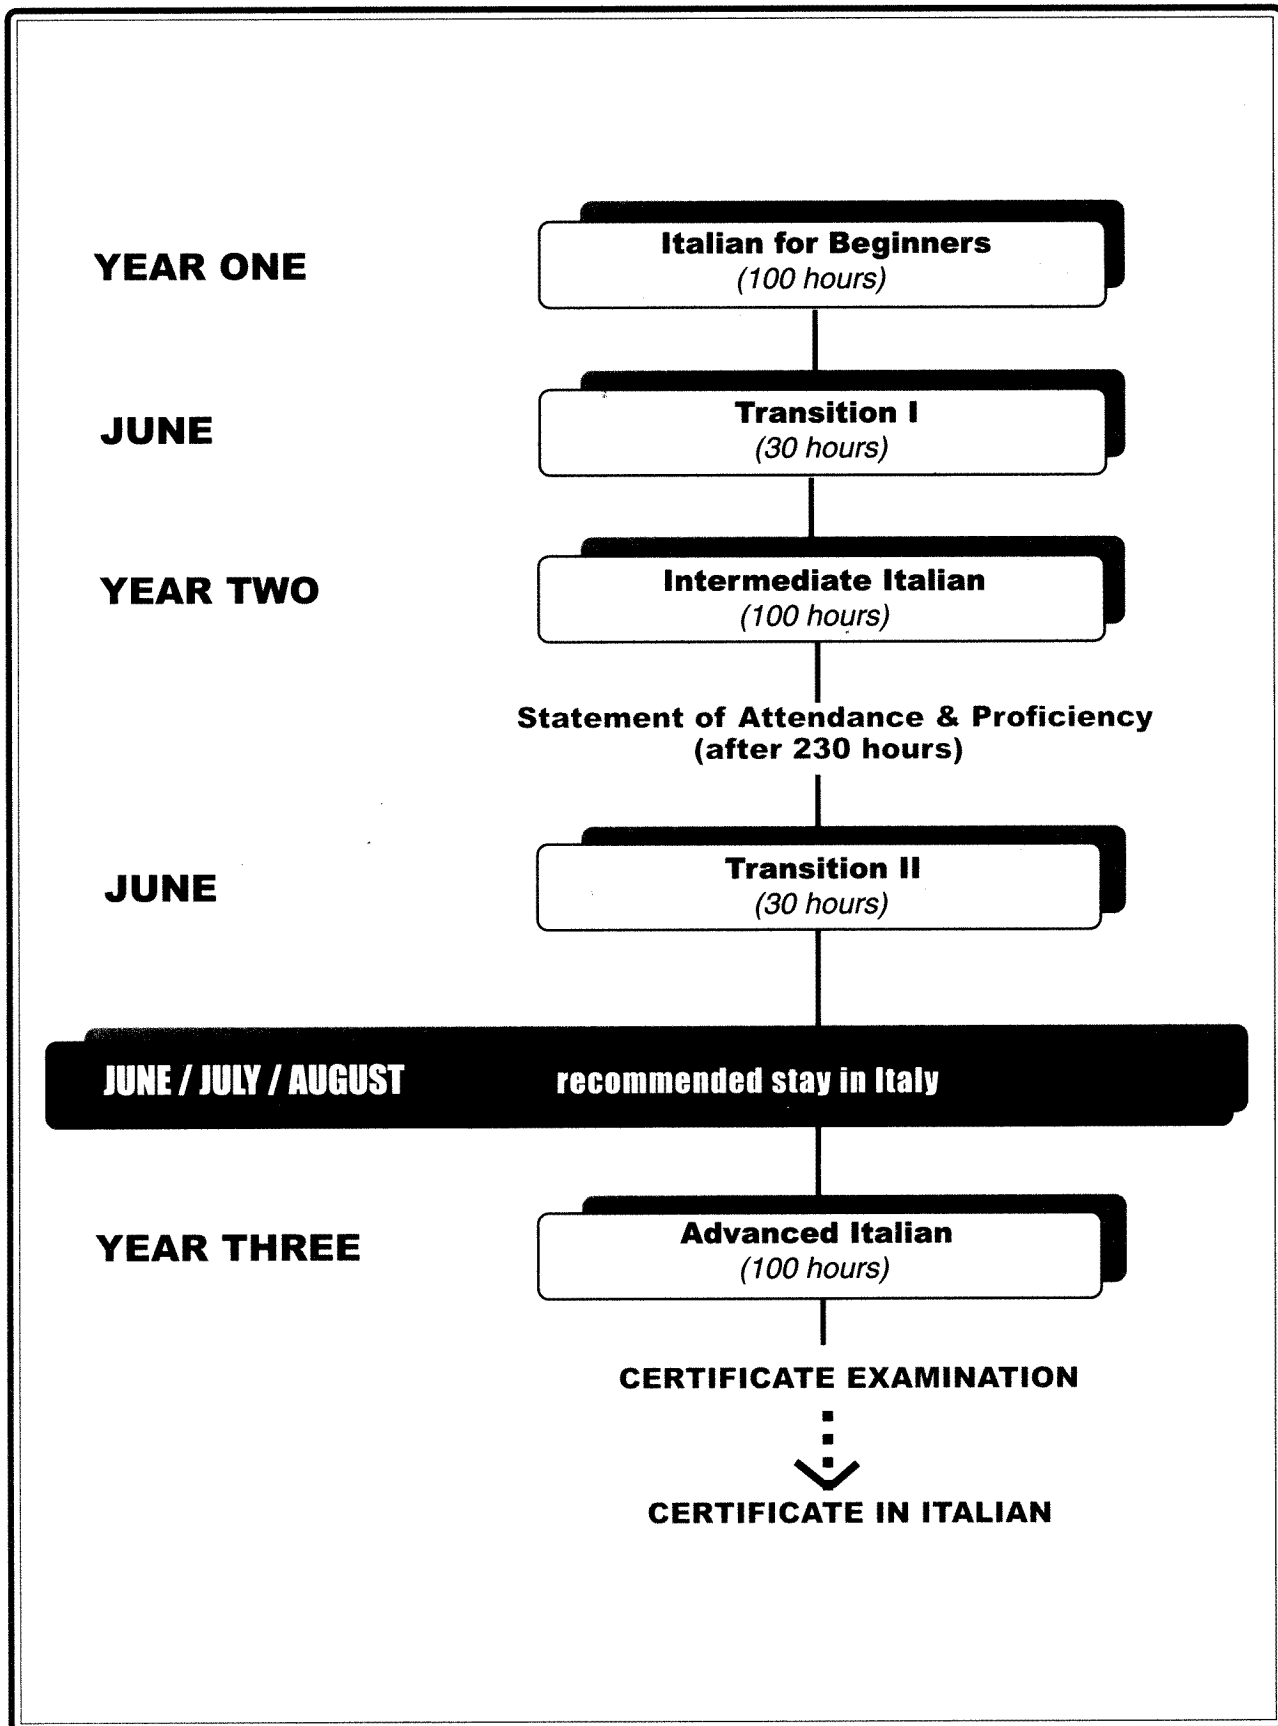

The Certificate Programme in Italian aims to give students a good knowledge of Italian for both academic and practical purposes. The programme lasts three years and comprises three main courses of 100 hours each (including a total of 30 hours in the language laboratories) and two 30-hour Transition Courses, one after the first year and one after the second year. The attendance in transition I and II courses (usually held in June) is compulsory. Students will be regularly assessed in each course and all assessments will count toward the final assessment for that course. Enrolment to subsequent courses will be subject to passing the previous examinations.

At the end of the second year, it is recommended that students spend one to two months in Italy to improve their command of Italian and their performance in the final year. The Language Centre will help students make arrangements for this summer work.

Teaching of Italian at the Language Centre uses an integrated method which merges human and media resources and includes course book materials, audio cassettes, video materials, software and interactive multimedia CD-ROMs. A presentation of the programme materials together with syllabus handouts for each year are provided at the beginning of each course.

Please refer to the chart on the next page for an outline of the course programme in certificate.

After the first 230 hours of the programme and a pass in the examination (part I) at intermediate level, students will be granted a Statement of Attendance and Proficiency. Students who successfully complete the full three years of the programme and pass certificate examination (part II) will be awarded the Certificate in Italian.

Italian for Beginners

The purpose of this course for complete beginners is to provide students with a solid foundation in Italian. Through a communicative approach, students will learn how to express themselves in different practical situations as well as to develop writing skills. Grammar is presented in a “situational” context in order to make the lessons interesting and lively. Students learn how to approach various aspects of everyday life in the Italian cultural context. Videos will be used to familiarize the students with “real Italian”. Additional materials will be used whenever the need arises. A CD-ROM software computer is installed in the Practice Laboratory (6th Floor, K.K. Leung Building) for the interactive studying of Italian.

A satellite channel is installed with 2-3 TV sets connected to the Italian national TV network in the Practice Laboratory (6th floor, K.K. Leung Building).

Intermediate Italian

The course is designed to deepen the knowledge of grammar and spoken Italian. The textbook will be supplemented with audio-visual and additional materials. In this course, the four skills of listening, writing, reading and speaking are enhanced. Students will find that they will definitely become able to get by in most everyday situations, using Italian. Stress will be placed also on writing and pronunciation. Grammar is tackled in a communicative situational approach in order to give every grammatical point a “real” linguistic context. Italian films (subtitled) will be shown throughout the course.

This course is offered to students who have successfully completed the Beginners’ course as well as the Transition course. Applicants who have a comparable level of Italian through studies in other institutions or countries may be admitted upon interview and assessment.

Advanced Italian

The course is intended to be the final stage of the Certificate Course in Italian.

The aim is to develop and establish students’ fluency in Italian. Students will be able to handle Italian in most language contexts, including applying for a job and being interviewed in Italian. Emphasis will also be placed on both written and spoken language, using authentic materials, videos, course books, video courses and multimedia.

Articles from Italian newspapers in the Internet will be analysed in a classroom context. The remaining aspects of grammar will be covered and presented in a “real” context. Students will have a chance to familiarise themselves with some aspects of Italian culture such as music and arts through the analysis of written material in Italian.

Students and tutors will also visit the Practice Laboratory to watch the Satellite TV channel connected to the Italian Television Network.

PORTUGUESE

The Language Centre Certificate in Portuguese

In addition to French, German, Italian and Spanish, HKU students can follow a Portuguese Language programme leading to the Language Centre Certificate in Portuguese.

The purpose of this programme is to provide students with the language skills necessary to communicate effectively in a wide variety of situations typical of day-to-day life in Portugal. Cultural aspects of Portuguese-speaking countries will also be part of the studies.

The programme lasts three years, comprising three main courses of 100 hours and two transition courses of 30 hours. A written examination and an oral examination will be held at the end of each year. Only students who attend a minimum of 300 hours of tuition will be admitted to the final Certificate Examination Part II. Students unable to fulfill this requirement may be able to obtain a Statement of Attendance and Proficiency after successful completion of 230 hours of tuition and a pass in the Certificate Examination Part I.

Portuguese is spoken by around 200 million people in a variety of countries and territories across the globe. It is the third most widely spoken European Language after Spanish and English. Students of Spanish, Italian and French will find many aspects of Portuguese familiar, as they are all romance languages based on Latin. The Portuguese Language plays an important role in international relations as a working language of the European Union and its Latin American equivalent, Mercosul.

CERTIFICATE EXAMINATION

Portuguese for Beginners

This 100 hour course forms the first stage of a three-level programme which continues with Intermediate Portuguese and Advanced Portuguese. It is designed for complete or near beginners who wish to acquire basic communicative competence in everyday Portuguese.

During sessions students learn how to ask about and give personal information, make, accept and decline invitations, order meals, buy goods in shops, ask for and give directions, talk about plans and future actions, etc. Classroom activities include pair or small group work so that everyone has a chance to participate.

A continuous assessment grade based on classwork, homework and progress tests will be given to the students at the end of the first semester (50 hours). Students attending the second part of the course are required to take a written test and an oral test at the end of the semester.

A transition course will be offered in June to students who successfully complete the first year and wish to go on to the Intermediate Portuguese course.

Intermediate Portuguese

The course is designed for students who successfully complete the Portuguese for Beginners and the Transition I courses. Students who have knowledge of basic Portuguese and can use the language in familiar situations will be considered for admission by means of interview.

The purpose of the course is to further develop students communication skills at everyday level.

During sessions students will learn how to talk and ask about past events, ask for and give advice, express opinions, etc.

A continuous assessment grade will be given to students at the end of the first term. Students attending the second part of the course are required to take a written test and an oral test at the end of the term. Successful examinees will be issued a Statement of Attendance and Proficiency.

A transition course will be offered in June to students who successfully complete the Intermediate Portuguese Course and wish to go on to the Advanced Portuguese course.

After completion of this level students are recommended to travel to Portugal or Brazil to attend an immersion course at a Portuguese language university or other recognised institution.

Advanced Portuguese

The course is designed for students who successfully complete the Intermediate Portuguese and the Transition II courses. Applicants who attain a similar level elsewhere may also be admitted.

The aim of this course is to expand students' communicative competence in Portuguese beyond everyday level. To achieve this goal extracts from television and radio programmes as well as short articles from newspapers will be used as a basis for discussion of current matters related to Portuguese-speaking countries.

At the end of the course, eligible students who wish to do so can take the Certificate Examination leading to the Language Centre Certificate in Portuguese.

SPANISH

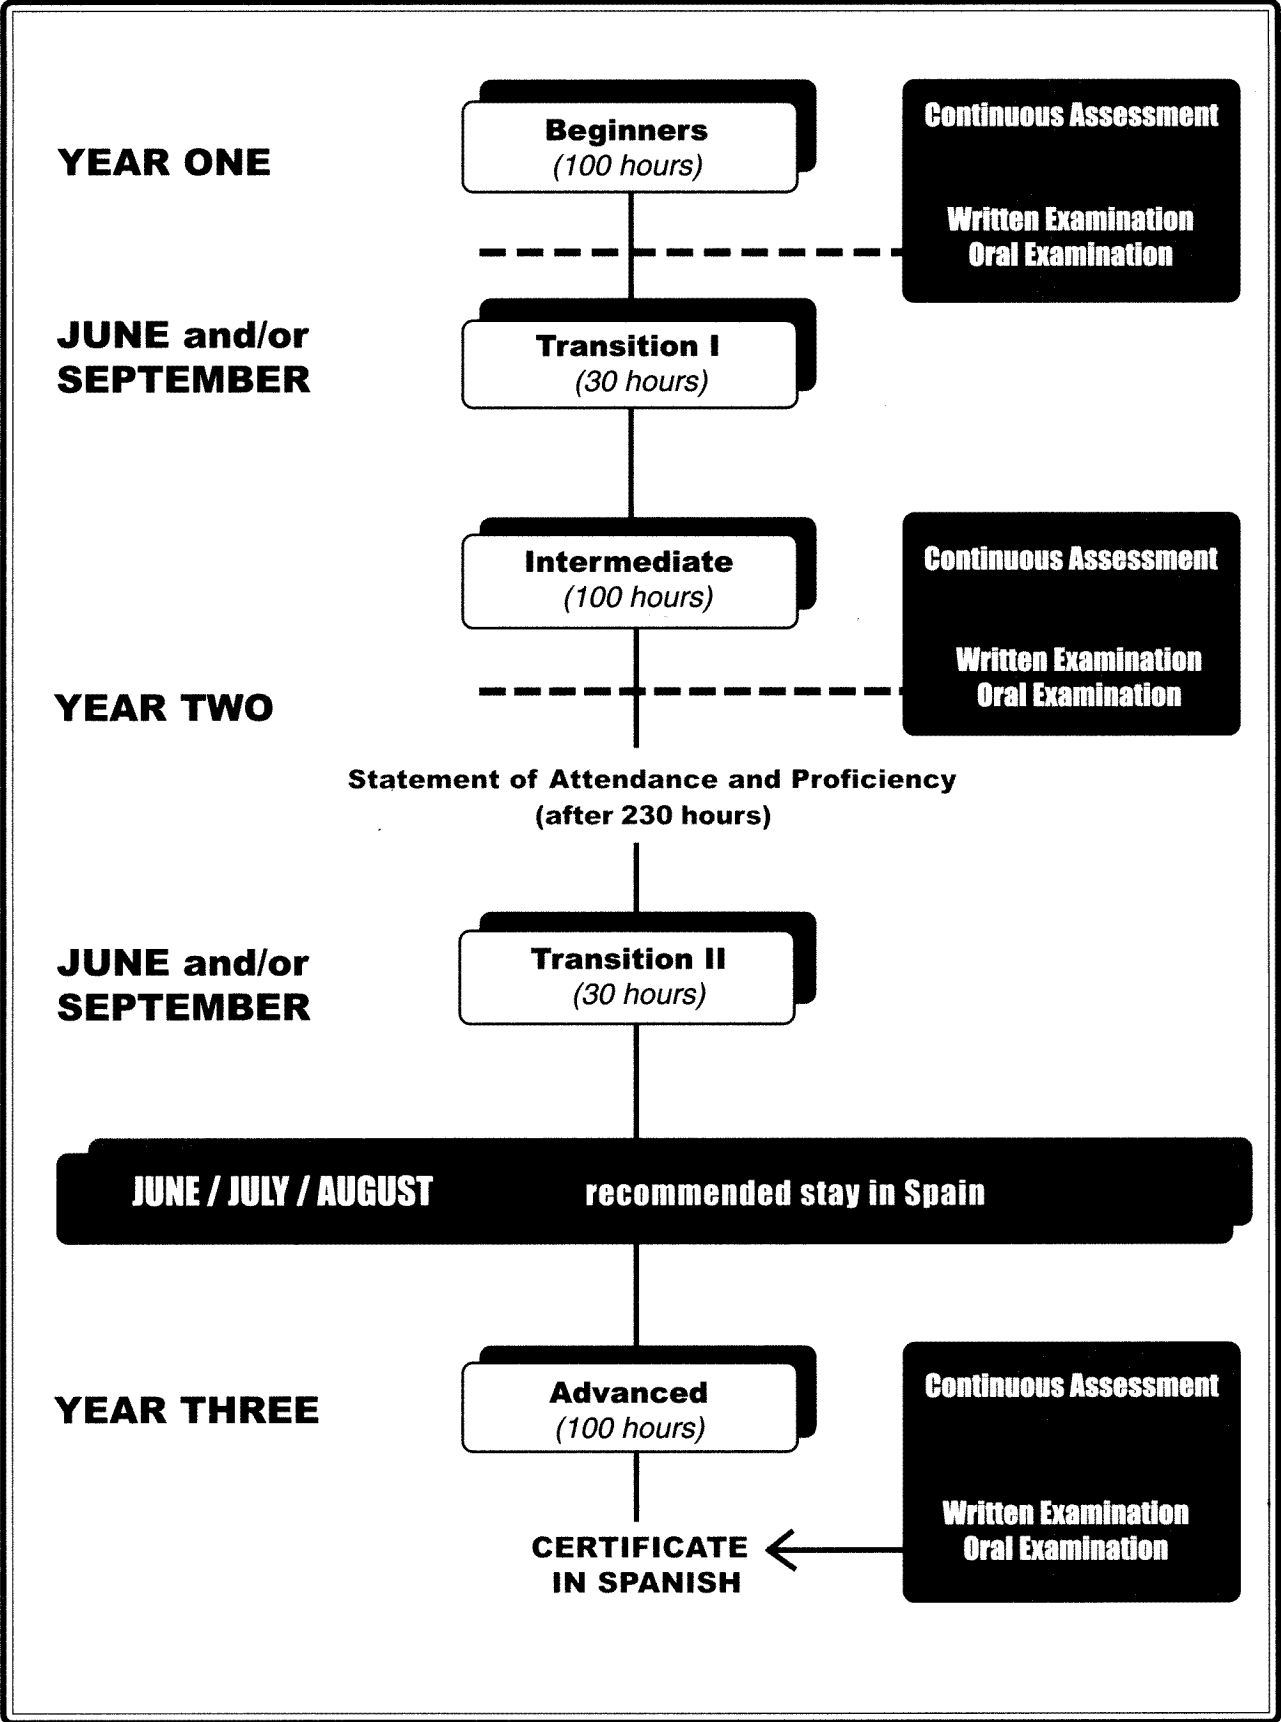

The Language Centre Certificate in Spanish

The Language Centre started its non-degree Spanish programme in 1993-94 and in 1998-99 the Language Centre Certificate in Spanish was offered for the first time.

The aim of the Certificate Programme is to take students from an absolute beginner's stage up to an advanced knowledge of both the language and culture of the hispanic world. By the end of the third year, students will have a sound command of both spoken and written Spanish as well as an understanding of the culture and traditions of Spain and Latinamerica.

The minimum number of hours required to be admitted to the Certificate Examination is 300-350. Admission to Intermediate (year 2) and Advanced (year 3) levels will be subject to continuous assessment (homework and tests). This continuous assessment will determine the allocation of places, which are limited. Furthermore, students are advised that attendance in Transition I and II courses (held usually in June and / or September) is compulsory.

After completion of 230 hours of tuition (intermediate level) and a pass in the oral examination students will be issued a Statement of Attendance and Proficiency. Those who decide to further their studies in Spanish can complete the Advanced level after which they can sit the Certificate examination Part II (written and oral) and obtain the Language Centre Certificate in Spanish. The following chart shows the course structure of the certificate programme.

Spanish for Beginners

The aim of this 100 hour course is to teach complete beginners the basics of the Spanish language. Through a communicative approach, students will learn how to interact in everyday situations such as introducing themselves, asking for directions, buying things, ordering food and drink, etc. There will be an emphasis on speaking, listening, reading and writing skills with many exercises and practice to enhance the student's ability to speak and understand basic Spanish.

Applicants are encouraged to arrange for a short interview prior to their enrolment.

A Transition Course I will be offered in June and/or September for those students wishing to go on to the Intermediate Spanish course.

Intermediate Spanish

This course is open to students who have successfully completed the Beginners' Course as well as the Transition Course I held in June and/or September each year.

Applicants who have a comparable level of Spanish through studies in other institutions or countries may also be admitted upon interview and assessment.

The aim of the course is to build up the fundamentals already acquired in the previous year and to add further skills which will enable students to deal with texts and situations which are linguistically more challenging than those experienced in lower levels.

A Transition Course II will be offered in June and/or September for those students wishing to go on to the Advanced Spanish course.

Advanced Spanish

This course will be open to students who have successfully completed the Intermediate Spanish Course as well as the Transition Course II held in June and/or September each year.

The goal of this course is to further develop the students' skills in Spanish with the aid of other materials (texts, audio and video) as well as the textbook. There will be a focus on the study of Spanish culture and history and students will be encouraged to improve their oral and written skills.

NON-DEGREE AND NON-CERTIFICATE COURSES

SWEDISH

The Language Centre first offered Swedish for Beginners in 1993-94.

Swedish for Beginners

These courses are designed for complete beginners and will provide the students with a basic knowledge of the Swedish language.

Students will also be introduced to Swedish culture and society. Since Sweden, Norway and Denmark are closely related in language and culture, these courses will give, in general terms, a wider understanding of Scandinavia as a whole.

The emphasis will be on the spoken language, and the students will learn to express themselves in a variety of practical situations, such as introducing themselves, going shopping, making telephone calls, etc. The courses will also include elements of reading and writing.

At the end of the Beginners' Course we will do a study of a Swedish videos and scripts. Additional classroom material will be used as needed. Other written and audio-visual materials are available in the Practice Laboratory (6/F, K.K. Leung Building), in the Language Resource Centre (4/F, Meng Wah Complex) and in the Main Library. Students who have completed the Beginners' course are recommended to take the Transition I usually offered in June.

Intermediate Swedish

This course is a continuation of the beginners course in Swedish and Transition I. The intention is to build further on this initial work and widen the scope of exposure to more complex aspects of the language. The teaching will be diversified through the use of more elaborate material and other techniques such as video. Participants are expected to consolidate their understanding of Swedish language and develop their production and reception skills.

Advanced Swedish

This course continues to build on the two previous years' work on a more advanced level. The intention is to lead participants towards a fairly comprehensive understanding of the Swedish language features through the study of a variety of documents (written, audio and video). The selection of documents will also serve as a basis for discussion on some social issues regarding contemporary Sweden, as well as her history and cultural background.

THAI

The Language Centre first offered Thai for Beginners in 1997-98.

Thai for Beginners

This 100-hour course aims to teach complete beginners the basics of Thai in the four linguistic skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing in the Thai language.

Students will also be introduced to Thai culture and society.

Vocabulary and grammar will be presented in a communicative way using social contexts to make the lessons interesting and lively. Students will learn to express themselves in a variety of situations, for example, making introductions, leave-taking, giving directions, buying things, making telephone calls, etc.

The emphasis will be on the spoken language as well as providing a sound foundation of basic Thai.

Intermediate Thai

This course is open to students who have successfully completed the Beginner's Course in Thai. Others may be admitted if they have sufficient knowledge of Thai.

Students taking this course will acquire skills that will allow them to understand more difficult texts and statements and to express themselves in more complex sentences.

Advanced Thai

This course continues to build on the two previous years' work on a more advanced level. The intention is to lead participants towards a fairly comprehensive understanding of the Thai language features through the study of a variety of documents (written, audio and video). The selection of documents will also serve as a basis for discussion on some social issues regarding contemporary Thailand, as well as her history and cultural background.

Basic Thai Course (for University staff and the general public)

Basic Thai is designed for complete beginners. It provides a basis for communicative competence in listening and speaking skills. The course is suitable for anyone who needs to communicate effectively in Thai.

The course is structured into two integrated parts: listening and speaking. You will learn to understand and express yourselves in a variety of practical, daily situations. Basic grammar and vocabulary will be explained in real contexts.

For information on application and tuition fees for the "Basic Thai Course", please contact the Language Centre General Office (Tel: 2859 2001). It is not a degree course and no formal credit will be given beyond a written testimonial from the Director of the Language Centre, if requested.

Enrolment Procedures

The Enrolment information and application periods for degree courses in French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Swedish and Thai follow those provided by the faculties in which the respective courses form a part.

CERTIFICATE, NON-DEGREE AND NON-CERTIFICATE COURSES

Examinations and Certifications

Certificates in French, German, Italian, Portuguese and Spanish

The Language Centre has introduced certificate programmes in French, German, Italian, Portuguese and Spanish. Please refer to pages 69-71 (French), pages 72-74 (German), pages 75-77 (Italian), pages 78-80 (Portuguese) and pages 81-83 (Spanish) for details.

Enrolment Procedures (Application Period for 2001-2002 : Aug 13 to Sept. 7, 2001)

There are 3 kinds of course application forms, one for each of the following types of courses : Beginners, Intermediate, Advanced.

PLEASE DO NOT SUBMIT MORE THAN ONE APPLICATION in each level (i.e. beginners, intermediate and advanced). Failure to observe this rule will render your application(s) invalid!

It is important to remember that the Language Centre's courses are not lectures which you can, with a minimum of effort, simply sit through to acquire some new information. They are language courses designed to teach you particular skills. You will need to work hard both inside and outside of the classroom to derive maximum benefit.

As the number of applicants for the courses generally far exceeds the number of places, a selection will be made. If you are offered a place in more than one of the courses, please ensure that there are no time clashes.

All courses are open primarily to undergraduates. The mounting of all courses is subject to fulfilling a minimum enrolment (normally 8). When a course for which you have registered cannot be run as scheduled, you will be informed by telephone or email.

Course Deposits and Examination Fees

You should check the results of your applications posted on the notice boards on the dates specified during each application period and pay your deposit immediately if you accept the offer. Successful applicants should obtain a "Student Fee Pay-in slip" at the counter of the Language Centre General Office, complete the slip and pay the course deposit (HK$500 for 2000-2001) to the HongKong Bank (University Branch) in cash, then return the blue copy of the slip to the Language Centre General Office to confirm the acceptance of offer. The offer of admission will be nullified and the place will be given to another student on the waiting list if the blue copy is not received before the deadline set.

Only those who have attained an attendance of not less than 80% are eligible for a refund. Upon satisfactory completion of the course the Finance and Enterprises Office will be notified by the Language Centre of your eligibility for a refund of the course deposit. Please ensure that the name you use to register for a course is the same as your bank account name. Do not, for example, register in the class as David Chan if your name is Chan Tai Wai; otherwise you might have difficulty getting the refund transferred back to your bank account after the completion of the course.

Students who have applied to sit for Certificate Examinations will have to pay the examination fees:

2001 - 2002

Certificate Examination - Part I (oral examination only) = HK$50

Certificate Examination - Part II (oral and written examinations) = HK$200

Waiting Lists

If a successful applicant fails to pay the deposit on the dates specified, his or her place will be given to another student on the waiting list. Waiting lists will be displayed on the noticeboard on the 7th floor, K.K. Leung Building. Applicants on the waiting lists will NOT be notified individually.

Leave of Absence

A student who cannot attend classes days because of medical reasons should write to the Director not later than two days after the leave of absence. Sick leave should be supported by a certificate signed by a registered medical practitioner.

A student who desires leave of absence for non-medical reasons should apply to the Director in writing prior to the commencement of leave, stating the reasons for which the leave of absence is sought and providing supporting documents.

Withdrawals

If for any reason you cannot attend the course for which you have registered, you should notify the Director in writing, so that your place can be offered to another applicant in time. The Centre will consider your request for a refund if your reason is justified. If you wish to quit in the middle of the course, you should give written notice to the Director.

LANGUAGE PRACTICE FACILITIES

The Language Centre, apart from its three classroom language laboratories together with the two multi-media learning centres (MMLC's) currently being developed (which are used only for classroom teaching), has one Practice Laboratory in Room 615 in the K.K. Leung Building together with one Language Resource Centre, Room 402 in the Meng Wah Complex, for self-access language learning. These facilities serve both as a language audio-visual and multimedia libraries in which students can select from a large range of audio, video or CALL (computer-aided language learning) programmes for use in the Laboratory or Resource Centre as well as places where students may undertake discussions, presentations and other similar activities or consult teaching staff concerning any aspect of their language learning.

The following facilities are provided:-

- (a) self-access listening, recording and playback facilities (consisting of standalone audio-active-comparative student recorders and CD players) for a large range of recommended programmes for listening and practice. These programmes are on cassette tapes, which are kept on the shelves. A catalogue of tapes in the Laboratory/Resource Centre is available in the room for reference by users.
- (b) micro-computer workstations programmed for interactive self-learning software packages. Each workstation includes a CD-ROM drive for working with a wide range of language learning materials recorded on CD-ROM disks. At the same time each workstation is connected to LAN operating in each facility which in turn is connected to the university's network, thus providing access both to services on the university's network as well as to the Internet.

Other facilities include micro-computer based multi-media interactive systems with CD-ROM players for use with English, French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Swedish and Thai CALL software.

- (c) self-access video facilities for viewing a range of videotaped materials with provision being made in the Language Resource Centre for two students to view a videotape together. At the same time DVD/VCD players are available in the Practice Laboratory for viewing video materials.

In addition to viewing prerecorded materials, users of the Practice Laboratory may also view foreign language programmes received via satellite. Languages made available initially include French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish and Putonghua.

- (d) consultation services are provided by teaching staff for any student who might need assistance or advice on the use of learning materials in the Laboratory/Resource Centre.
- (e) Student Activities Rooms where students may undertake discussions and other activities on an organized or ad-hoc basis. Portable equipment may be borrowed from the counter for use in the Activities Rooms for presentations and for audio recording/videotaping in the rooms. Such equipment is for use in Activities Rooms only and may not be taken out of the Resource Centre.
- (f) Student access points (ACENET Points) have been installed in the self access facilities to allow students to connect to the university campus network using their personal portable laptop microcomputers.

In addition, current newspapers and magazines are provided in the Student Activities Room in the Practice Laboratory and in the Reading Areas in the Language Resource Centre in the Meng Wah Complex.

Information sheets outlining the use of the above facilities are available in the Laboratory/Resource Centre. No tapes, worksheets or other materials may be removed from the room without permission. If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to ask the member of staff in attendance at the counter for assistance.
