UKB is the Dutch consortium of the thirteen university libraries and the National Library of the Netherlands. UKB's Ambitions 2017-2020 outlines these key policy objectives:

Improve delivery of content:

- jointly acquire content which is not available or easily accessible on the open internet;
- jointly develop a publication infrastructure for the scientific output of the institutions;
- jointly promote publication with open access;
- jointly deal with imminent collection budget deficits.

Enhance the infrastructure for discovery and delivery:

- jointly develop an efficient, integrated infrastructure for discovery and access, including both open and restricted information resources.

Support e-research and e-learning:

- jointly develop facilities for e-learning
- jointly develop facilities for e-science: storage, publication and valorisation of research output.

cpd25

The M25 Consortium of Academic Libraries aims to improve library and information services for our members.

The Consortium now has a new website for the cpd25 programme.

© University of Bedfordshire

cpd25 is the Staff Development and Training programme of the M25 Consortium of Academic Libraries.

cpd25 aims to:

- provide staff development and training for all levels of library staff
- provide value for money training services for all consortium libraries
- foster good practice amongst members and to facilitate the exchange of experience

We provide a variety of training events and library visits throughout the year. Library visits are for members only, but we accept external bookings on all of our training events at a non-member rate.

Work with Portage

About Portage

THE PORTAGE NETWORK is dedicated to the shared stewardship of research data in Canada through:

- Developing a national research data culture
- Fostering a community of practice for research data
- Building national research data services and infrastructure

Launched in 2015 by the Canadian Association of Research Libraries, Portage works within the library community to coordinate expertise, services, and technology in research data management, seeking to collaborate with other research data management stakeholders.

Research data culture represents widely shared values and principles for digital data management.

A community of practice for research data consists of stakeholders working collaboratively to ensure data are accessible to address complex research issues.

Research data management activities span sectors, domains, and jurisdictions, necessitating nationally coordinated research services and infrastructure

JULAC

Challenges

- Leadership continuity
- Local universities - competition vs collaboration tensions
- Size – a plus and a minus
- Minimal cross-sectoral local collaboration
- Regional and/or global collaboration

JULAC Top Strategic Directions 2017-2020

Goal 1: Ensure Access to a Rich and Diverse Collection Collaboratively

- Fully establish JURA (Joint Universities Research Archive) to reduce duplication of print and guarantee access to retained copies (Explore a joint temporary storage)
- Joint consortia purchasing
- Collect research data
- Explore a common platform for research output
- Digitization initiatives
- Preservation and conservation issues

JULAC Top Strategic Directions 2017-2020

Goal 2: Deliver Innovative Services and Operations Together

- Implement a shared ILS system
- Explore collaborative opportunities through the shared ILS
- Embed Information Literacy MOOCs and other project outcomes into curriculum
- Promote Open Access
- Establish a JULAC research support group
- Review common operations to maximize efficiency
- Review and enhance JULAC statistics

Goal 3: Shared Staff development

- Establish JULAC Deputies Group

Guiding Principles

- Share smartly
- Do things together AND Do things once
- Do things to shared standards
- Improve user experience and discovery
- Contribute to the global community
